3. Entry Method: To enter this promotion, visit this station's website for registration, game play, and the terms and conditions. Fill in the entry form by selecting the outcome of each game. Each correct pick will be worth 1 point. The player that earns the most points each week will be the weekly winner. The player that earns the most points during the season will be the season winner. Any incorrect entries will receive 0 points. The maximum point total for correctly determining the winning team in every game played during the designated season is 272. The maximum point total for each week is up to 16 points, depending on the number of teams with a bye that week. In case of a tie refer to the tiebreaker rules below.

4. Tiebreakers:

- Overall Season tiebreakers for the Grand Prize:
- Overall Season tiebreaker #1 - The total overall tiebreaker score as shown on the Overall Leaderboard
- Overall Season tiebreaker #2 - Higher number of wins for Week 18
- Overall Season tiebreaker #3 - Higher number of wins for Week 17
- Overall Season tiebreaker #4 - Higher number of wins for Week 16
- Overall Season tiebreaker #5 - A random draw between all remaining players.
- Weekly Tiebreakers for prizes being given away each week that are NOT the national or local grand prize:
- Weekly tiebreaker #1 - The player that correctly predicted the winning pick of the Tiebreaker Game is considered the winner of that week.
- Weekly tiebreaker #2 – A Player's predicted Tiebreaker Game score is compared to the actual Tiebreaker Game. The differences between the predicted scores and actual scores for each team are added. The entry with the smallest total difference is considered the winning entry.
- Weekly tiebreaker #3 - A random draw between all remaining Entrants to determine the winner. In all cases, an entry that does not win a tiebreaker is eliminated from consideration.
- Each week you will be asked to predict the score, of one or more game(s). The difference between the tiebreaker scores you choose each week and the actual final tie breaker game scores will be subtracted from 100 possible points, each week. The closer your picks are to the actual final scores, fewer points will be subtracted from the 100 possible points, each week, for each designated tiebreaker game.
